Asia is where wealth is created, invested and, increasingly, it's where it is managed. Within the next decade, Asia will become the most significant wealth opportunity globally, with fast-growing wealth pools, dynamic intra-regional trade, cross-border investments and a transformative USD1.9 trillion intergenerational transfer of wealth.<sup>1</sup>

Today, seismic structural shifts are shaping the future of wealth and wealth management in Asia in ways that make it the most compelling opportunity in consumer finance.

As we emerge into a post-pandemic reality, a confluence of economic and geopolitical forces is bringing new complexities for investors, entrepreneurs and families across the region.
